

GLENN ROGERS

TEXAS STATE REPRESENTATIVE
District 60

BROWN, CALLAHAN, COLEMAN, EASTLAND, HOOD, PALO PINTO, SHACKELFORD, STEPHENS

Friends,

This time last year, I had just been elected to serve the greatest district in the State of Texas. When reflecting over the previous year, there were so many unusual circumstances that occurred.

First, we had COVID. The members of the Texas Legislature were unsure of how the session would be conducted. There were rumors that we would only pass a balanced budget, our only constitutional requirement, and adjourn. Thankfully this was not the case. After just one month in office, winter storm Uri hit and affected the lives of the entire state. The focus of the legislature then shifted to addressing the power grid. Towards the end of the regular session, many of my Democrat colleagues abandoned their constitutional duty and broke quorum in efforts to stop conservative legislation from passing. During the summer, Governor Abbott convened three special sessions to address some of the legislation that did not pass during the regular session. Lots of time was wasted as a result of another quorum break by a majority of democrat members. Finally, in the last special session, we addressed the difficult redistricting process.

Despite all of the hiccups along the way, the 87th Legislature turned out to be the most conservative and most productive session in the history of Texas. We were able to pass:

- meaningful pro-life legislation to protect the unborn and provide for these precious children after being born;
- measures to protect our 2nd amendment rights;
- legislation that ensures our elections are safe and fair;
- funding for property tax relief;
- a supplemental check for our retired Texas educators;
- fair maps through the redistricting process even though there was a delayed Census;
- and so much more.

After wrapping up the 87th Legislative Session, I am proud to say that it is the best session I have ever had. There is still more work to be done, and I am looking forward to accomplishing more for my district and for all Texans.

In the District

In the last few weeks, I have been able to spend much-needed time back in the district. If you have an upcoming event, please let my office know. Either a member of my staff or I would enjoy attending.

At the beginning of this month, I had the privilege of speaking to the extraordinary ladies of the Mineral Wells Women's Club. I was able to provide a legislative update and was treated to a delicious Thanksgiving feast.

On November 5th, I had the best time attending the Breckenridge High School Senior Night football game. We started the evening with a spirited tailgate hosted by the booster club. The BISSD School Board and Superintendent recognized me for my support and dedication to public education and rural Texas. Then, I walked out with the captains to do the coin toss before the game began. We watched the marching band perform their special Black Out Concert and hopped on the halftime radio show. It was a great night in Breckenridge, and I'm looking forward to being back in Stephens County soon!

I visited virtually with TxDOT to discuss some of the current and upcoming transportation infrastructure projects that have been happening around the district.

On Veterans Day, I joined my friends in Brownwood at the Annual Brown County Veterans Day Program. I was honored to participate in this unique program as we honored our veterans for their much-appreciated service to our Nation.

On Tuesday, November 16th, students from Howard Payne University came down to Austin to get a tour of the Texas Capitol. I enjoyed spending some time with our future generation of policy developers. These students also got to hear from Senator Cornyn's Texas Press Secretary, Murphy McCollough, Communications Director for the Speaker of the House, Enrique Marquez, and Policy Director, Jay Dyer.
